

A vast force of MEN AND MACHINERY has already started work on what engineers of the surveys and engineering branch, Department of Mines and Resources, regard as the toughest piece of road building in Canada—the 100 miles of highway necessary to connect Prince Rupert with the rest of Canada. Seven of the LARGEST CONSTRUCTION COMPANIES in Canada have already been awarded contracts on eight sections of the road. It will cost more than $5,000,000. Engineers estimate the cost will run from $40,000 to $60,000 per mile. J. M. Wardle, director of the surveys and engineering branch, which has this work in hand, believes that the road can be COMPLETED BY MARCH, 1943. In order to do the job, contractors will each throw in more than 600 tons of the heaviest machinery available. The equipment will be frozen on the job until completion. During the summer months, two shifts of men will be worked. When daylight shortens, one ten-hour shift will be worked. Rock work will be carried on all winter. "FAR HARDER than any country on the Alaska Highway," is how engineers sum up the task. They are aided, however, by the fact that the railway gives them transportation to all points. The work is being done on a unit price basis. The value of the section contracts can not be arrived at presently, because the rush nature of the work has not allowed engineers to measure all the material to be moved. This work must be finished while construction progresses.

Acceleration of Canada's war production by efficient organization and promotion of CLOSER RELATIONS between management and labor was urged by key speakers at the seventy-first meeting of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association. With SHORTAGE OF SKILLED CRAFTSMEN looming as large as scarcity of raw materials, Elliott M. Little, director of National Selective Service, told the industrialists that many of their wartime problems could be solved by improving relations with their employees. "Employer-employee relations can and must be improved," Mr. Little said. "Without them maximum efficiency cannot exist. With good relations, miracles can be performed." F. H. Brown, assistant deputy minister of procurement, Department of Munitions and Supply, warned that SHORTAGE OF MATERIAL AND LABOR and changing designs of war machines would upset war production. Despite increasing difficulties, greater and greater production was imperative, he stressed. G. K. Shields, deputy minister of munitions and supply, stressed that manufacturers of war supplies must realize the urgency of VASTLY INCREASING PRODUCTION in the shortest possible time. One gun today is worth five next month or fifty next year, he said. Harold Crabtree, of Montreal, president of the association, was another who believed that better EMPLOYER-EMPLOYEE relations were a major factor in boosting war production. In his annual review at the convention's opening, he reported that in the last year improvements in this connection had done much to speed and improve manufacturing processes.

THE GREATEST MOVEMENT in Canadian railway history is taking place today and rail facilities probably will be utilized further after the war, R. C. Vaughan, president of the Canadian National Railways, said in an interview at the Canadian Manufacturers' Association convention. "There seems to be SOME MISUNDERSTANDING regarding the ability of the railways to handle more business," he said. "I can definitely say that as a result of a far-seeing program introduced and carried out some time ago we are in a position today to meet all demands." Mr. Vaughan said the C.N.R. is not yet inconvenienced by lack of manpower, but there is a "possibility" of women being called upon to replace men. He said the Canadian National would shortly introduce an innovation in dining-car service on certain main line passenger trains by the operation of A NEW "CAFE" CAR which was in reality a coffee shop on wheels. This would augment, in many cases, the dining cars and offer a new facility for quick service. Mr. Vaughan also added that new locomotives were on order as well as several thousand freight cars. He paid tribute to the war effort of the Canadian manufacturer and stated that Canada's war production was magnificent.

Lawrence Anderson, secretary of the Joint Shipyard Trade Conference representing British Columbia's 20,000 shipyard workers, announced that the conference in a week-end meeting had decided the present SEVEN-DAY-WEEK PLAN has proved impractical and a new "increased production" program is being drafted for presentation to the Federal Government. The announcement came shortly after it was revealed that the 7,400 workers of the Vancouver Boilermakers' Union had gone on record as being opposed to the continuous production program, which was instituted several weeks ago at the request of Labor Minister Mitchell. It was also disclosed the Plumbers and Steamfitters' Union with local membership of 1,000 had voted against the plan. Anderson said, however, that the JOINT SHIPYARD CONFERENCE is appealing to all shipyard workers to continue to co-operate in the present seven-day schedule until a new program is adopted.

"Thriller chillers" are rolling off the press at a great rate in Canada these days and finding a market not only in the Dominion, but in the U.S., South America, West Indies, Newfoundland, even Iceland. They are pocket editions—POPULAR-PRICED REPRINTS of the famed "White Circle" series—and the first books this country has ever exported on any large scale. Paper rationing in Great Britain provided the opportunity for this important development in Canadian publishing. British publishers, held down to about one third of prewar paper supplies, had not only to print fewer titles, but curtail exports. William Collins Sons & Co. Canada Ltd., of Toronto, had for years been the distributor in Canada of the "White Circle" books printed by William Collins Sons & Co. in Scotland, as well as the distributor for "Penguin" and "Pelican" POCKET EDITIONS, also printed in the Old Country. F. F. Appleton, managing director of Collins in Canada, saw that no more of these series would come from Great Britain and that the demand built up for them on this side would be lost unless something was done. He embarked on the EXPERIMENT OF PRINTING them in the Dominion. So far the success of the venture has far exceeded expectations. Early in the spring from 10,000 to 15,000 copies of a title were printed. This has now been increased from 15,000 to 20,000 copies a title. At present titles are being printed at the rate of two a week, in order to build up a wide selection. It is planned in the fall to strike a steady rate of six a month.

Recruiting Starts Today At Canadian Legion For Kelowna Militia Rangers

George N. Kennedy Appointed Commander of Company With Headquarters in Kelowna—Will Hold Rank of Captain—Company is Made Up of Five Detachments, Two From Kelowna and Three From Adjoining Districts—No Army Drill For Members of Corps Who Will Act as Scouts—Hunters and Trappers and Outdoor Men Particularly Desired

FOLLOWING formation of Militia Rangers in other Okanagan centres, authorization has now been received from Victoria for the formation of No. 100 Company, Pacific Coast Militia Rangers, to be recruited in the Kelowna area. The company will compose five detachments, two of which will be recruited in Kelowna proper. The remaining three detachments will be drawn from Glenmore-Benoulin, Okanagan Mission-East Kelowna and Rutland-Winfield districts.

George N. Kennedy, well-known Kelowna business man, veteran of the First Great War and crack rifle shot, has been appointed Company Commander and will hold the rank of Captain. Each detachment will have a strength of approximately 100 and will be divided into groups of nine rangers each.

Kelowna will be the headquarters of the unit and organization of the new defence corps will be put into effect immediately. Recruits will be drawn from those men who are not eligible for active service as members of the local Reserve unit.

Local detachment commanders and N.C.O.s will be appointed as soon as enlistments have been completed, and applications for enrolment will be received at the Canadian Legion Hall today, Thursday, 8:00 p.m. to 10 p.m., and on Saturday, June 20, between the same hours.

Kelowna Rangers will only be called for active service in case of an emergency, such as invasion by parachute troops, or if the local Reserve unit is withdrawn for service elsewhere.

The most valuable assistance by the Rangers will be in the nature of scouting and guide service to regular army units unfamiliar with the local terrain. The services of trappers and hunters are being specially sought by the local command, and every man that knows how to handle a rifle and has a good working knowledge of the back country will be of great value to the Rangers.

Volunteers need have no fear that their time will be taken up with a lot of unnecessary army drill. Such training is not part of the work to be performed by Ranger detachments. The work is to be done by the scouts used by the American army in the frontier days of the '70s and '80s during the Indian wars on the Western plains.

Rangers, at the event of British Columbia being attacked, will be attached to regular army units to act as guides and as advance scouts. They will be particularly useful in combating Japanese paratroops and infiltrating scouting parties of the enemy.

All necessary equipment is being supplied by the authorities, and full instruction in the use of modern offensive weapons will be given, which will make each Ranger detachment a hard-hitting defensive and offensive force capable of aiding the regulars and harassing an advancing enemy unfamiliar with the country being traversed.

There have been rumors that A.R.P. membership would be a bar

Rise In Lake Level Has Caused No Serious Health Problem So Far States Dr. J. M. Hershey

Chlorination of City Water and Sewer Extensions Have Served to Prevent Serious Health Menace, States Medical Health Officer—Reports of Diphtheria Unfounded But Five Typhoid Cases in Rutland

DR. J. M. Hershey reports that the floods and high lake water so far have created no major public health problem in Kelowna itself, and it is not believed that there will be any serious health menace if the lake does not rise above the peak level estimated by the engineers. Chlorination of the city water supply and the extensions to the sewerage system during the past two years have been very important factors in preventing what otherwise would already have been a very serious health menace.

The city water is tested bacteriologically every day at the Laboratory, and the dosage of chlorine is checked several times a day at the pumping station. In spite of heavy contamination of the lake water at the peak of the floods, the Laboratory consistently has reported negative results on all tests carried out on the chlorinated water.

There is no truth whatever in the report that the Kelowna health authorities are concerned about the possibility of the spread of diphtheria in this district as a result of the flood conditions. Floods seldom or never have anything to do with the problem of diphtheria control. There are no cases of diphtheria in this district, and there have not been any during recent years. Moreover, approximately 80 per cent of school children, and possibly 40 per cent of infants and pre-school children in the South Okanagan have been immunized against this disease.

Five cases of typhoid fever, however, have been reported from the Rutland district. At the most so far, three families have been affected, and apart from the original cases, we have had no new cases or suspected cases reported in two weeks. While infection of these cases probably occurred before the floods of the week-end of May 24th, residents of the rural districts

ROTARY CLUB DRAFTS POST WAR PLATFORM

Seven Point Program For Post War Reconstruction Developed by Rotary Committee

SPIRIT OF VICTORY

Plan For Better Post War Society Would Raise Spirits of Free People at This Critical Time

An extensive seven point program of post war reconstruction has been presented to the Select Committee on Reconstruction and Rehabilitation at Ottawa by the Kelowna Rotary Club for the consideration of the Dominion Government.

In a letter to James Grey Turgeon, M.P., chairman of the select committee, the Kelowna organization stresses the immediate need of publicizing post war aims so that the people of the United Nations may be fired with the will to victory through a certainty of a better world.

The letter continues, "We feel that a bold and decisive step like this would speed up production in the factories, and give a sense of purpose and our prisoners in the hands of the enemy, and be a source of encouragement to all free nations of the world."

The following is a list of post war objectives proposed by the committee of the Kelowna Rotary Club:

1. That unemployment shall not be permitted to enter our industrial life.

2. That the first charge on the economic resources of the nation will be to provide work for its citizens.

3. That public assistance to those unable to work shall be on a scale to provide an adequate standard of living.

4. That educational opportunities be equal for all children, without regard to the income of the parents.

5. That equal opportunities to benefit from the health services which can be provided by the medical resources of the nation be available to all citizens irrespective of their incomes.

6. That legal reforms be enacted to enable poor men to obtain justice from which they are often at present debarred owing to the expense of litigation.

7. That the peace to be made must permit all nations the means of dwelling in safety and economic freedom from fear and want.

SEEK NO FERRY SERVICE EXTENSION

Board of Trade, However, Does Ask Help for Westbank Tomato Growers

The Kelowna Board of Trade on Tuesday decided not to ask for a summer schedule for the Kelowna Westbank ferry, but to continue the Board has taken the stand that this year there will probably be greatly reduced travel requirements, and the present schedule should prove satisfactory under existing conditions, with one exception.

The exception the Board will request from the Department of Public Works is an extra morning ferry during the tomato season for the convenience of Westbank growers.

It has been pointed out to the Board's transportation committee that the seven-thirty ferry from the west side is a little late for the growers at the height of the tomato season, and so the Board is requesting the department to make arrangements for a six-thirty ferry from the west side, should it be needed later in the season.

SAVINGS DRAW NEXT MONDAY

Sixth Drawing Will Be Made by D. C. Paterson—Over $2,500 Already Paid Out

The sixth draw in Kelowna's War Savings Sweep will take place in the studio of C. K. O. V. on Monday, June 22, at 8:45 p.m.

The draw will be made by D. C. Paterson, and prizes of $25,000, $10,000 and $5,000 will be the first to be pulled out of the hat.

In the past five draws 244 prizes have been won by lucky ticket holders. The money has been $25,000 through the efforts of the Casual Sales Committee and their patriotic willingness to take a chance and so assist Canada's war effort.

Kelowna has established an outstanding record in sales of War Savings Certificates, and the monthly sweep has been of material assistance in keeping the city in the front rank.

LEAVES FOR COAST
A. J. Noble, Canadian National telegraph operator in charge of the Kelowna office, has been transferred to Vancouver main office and expects to leave in a few days for his new position.

Replacing him will be E. R. Wilby, who was employed in Kelowna as night operator some years ago. Mr. Wilby is coming to his new job from Vancouver.

TWO THOUSAND BERRY PICKERS MAY COME HERE

Prairie Women Workers Being Imported to Fraser Valley For Berry and Hop Picking

FINISH IN AUGUST

Will be Available for Apple Harvest if Housing and Transportation Can be Arranged by Growers

Fifteen hundred to two thousand women farm workers from the prairies may be available to the Okanagan Valley tree fruit growers about August 15, so advice received yesterday from J. B. Shimek, manager of the Pacific Co-op, Mission City, to Secretary C. A. Hayden, of the B.C.F.G.A., indicated.

Mr. Shimek stated that after considerable trouble, arrangements have been made for the transportation of the women from the prairies to the Fraser Valley. The railways had given a rate of 2 1/2 cents a mile, single fare, and the Government had agreed to absorb one-third of this cost. This one-third will be rebated to the women after they have worked for 21 days.

Mr. Shimek reported that the women were already arriving in the Fraser Valley and that he expected 1,500 to 2,000 would be brought in for the season's work. This would start with the berries, continue with the hops and conclude, so far as the Fraser Valley was concerned, with the hops. He figured that hop picking would be finished about August 15, and then the women could be transferred to the Interior tree fruit area if they were wanted.

Secretary Hayden has communicated Mr. Shimek's information to the B.C.F.G.A. executive to J. F. Chap, manager of the Dominion Unemployment Insurance Commission, Kelowna, and to the Vernon, Kelowna and Penticton Boards of Trade.

The B.C.F.G.A. executive and the locals will be requested to study two points that will be raised, first, transportation costs, and the other, accommodation. The B.C.F.G.A. has already made a survey of the matter of accommodation for women.

In general, the reaction has been that such accommodation will be provided. In some cases that will be provided by groups of growers and others, and in some cases by the B.C.F.G.A. has been negotiating with Mr. Shimek for the last month in respect of access to these prairie women workers, and he has promised full co-operation in helping to effect the necessary arrangements for their transfer to the tree fruit area. It is possible that there may be a surplus for other farm operations.

The plan is a single one. Families are being asked to signify their willingness to provide each month or each week after they have finished their own work.

KELOWNA RED CROSS TOTAL STILL CLIMBS

City Leads Okanagan With Total to Date of Nearly Sixteen Thousand Dollars With More Coming in Daily

On Wednesday the Red Cross figure for Kelowna was placed at $15,734.82, two weeks after the close of the campaign, with the odds bits and dribbles still coming in steadily to swell the total. The amount is made up principally of cash, $14,851.32, with the balance of $883.50 in pledges.

Latest available reports indicate that Kamloops reached the $10,000 mark, while Vernon went over $13,000.

Commenting on the local effort on Tuesday, C. R. Bull, campaign chairman, said it was a magnificent achievement, made possible only through the whole-hearted co-operation of a host of workers, generous and sympathetic support by the people of the district as a whole.

The drive fulfilled our expectations, he said, "with a full participation by everyone to the best of his or her ability. The team captains did a magnificent job, while the 70-odd canvassers, the infantry of the campaign, worked hard and were the backbone of the effort. With them I link the committee members and those who assisted in the office work."

The special names committee and the publicity committee functioned exceedingly well and played an important part in the success of the drive. All the various publicity mediums co-operated to the full.

"This was an important volunteer war effort of the greatest importance, and we have the satisfaction of knowing we did a difficult job in a first-class manner. The measure of the response indicated that the people of the Kelowna district fully appreciate the fact that they are fortunate that many of their fellows in other parts of the world, and that, while they continue to enjoy their good fortune, they will dig down deep in their pockets so that the suffering of others may be somewhat relieved."

CITY CAN RAISE SALARIES

Building Inspector Fred Gore and Firemen H. L. Glenn and T. G. Hazell will receive salary increases of five dollars per month.

A letter was received by the Kelowna City Council from Ottawa advising that salary increases can be made by any employer who does not come within the class of living bonus.

The letter having been read, the council, on motion, approved the increases which had been recommended.

With Lake Level At 104 Ft. Flooding By Seepage Is Problem

Areas Below Present Lake Level Are Being Inundated as Lake Water Forces its Way Back From the Lake—City Park Picnic Grounds Part of Lake—Streets Blocked and Temporary Sidewalks Installed for Lakefront Homes—Water from Flooded Land at Penticton May Break Through to River and Lands to the South

Barometer Still Stands At Low Level

THE waters of Okanagan Lake continue to rise and threat of more rain as the barometer remains low is causing concern in Kelowna and Penticton, as workmen are busy in both cities and the highway at Peachland holding back the flood waters. Seepage from the lake is expected to flood many additional Kelowna properties during the next two weeks.

In Penticton, water from the lake has entered certain parts of the business section and has flooded the low land west of the town. Every effort is being made to hold the rising waters in check as a break-through at Penticton would inundate low-lying lands south to the border.

A steady rise in the lake level at Kelowna during the past week resulted in a reading Wednesday of 104 feet.

Mill Creek has overflowed its banks at the mouth and city workmen blocked off the park roads leading to the picnic grounds and are working to check an overflow from the lake between the picnic grounds and the Aquatic Club premises. The picnic grounds are now part of the lake.

Isolation of certain residences on the lake front may force the owners to vacate as rising water nears the flooring. Dr. W. F. Anderson may be forced to find temporary residence elsewhere, and Dr. Campbell's home is surrounded by water. Many lake front basements have six inches or more of water covering the floors.

S. M. Simpson's mill is operating under difficulties, holding back the lake by a coffer dam and siphon installations. So far, seepage has been kept under control, but every additional rise adds to the difficulties of continued operation, and seepage through cement floors is a serious problem.

Radio Station CKOV's plant on the Mission Road is accessible only by boat, and a hurried adjustment upward of wiring and power installations has so kept ahead of steadily rising water.

Street, south of Cadder Avenue, has been blocked off to all but residents owing to lake seepage encroaching over the road. A pump has been installed by the City Works Department and has reduced the level somewhat, but it is believed that the seepage will continue as the lake water has to find its own level.

The problem of lake seepage will increase and will not improve for some time, even if the lake rise is checked, it is stated. Many areas adjacent to the lake which have no water as yet will be flooded, within a week or two, as the seepage makes its way through the clay subsoil.

Temporary sidewalks have been laid to many residences on McDougall Avenue, and this condition will not improve.

As additional low-lying areas are flooded by lake seepage, the problem of sanitation will become more serious and mosquito control can only be effected by the city health department.

Water has covered the walk in front of the Aquatic Club and is washing against the building. As the weeks slip by the problem of staging a summer season becomes more difficult and the directors are praying for a change in weather to help out their plans.

MORE GROWERS SIGN
B. E. Fruit reports that up to Wednesday, June 17, 86.0 per cent of the growers have signed the new contract. Kaleden was the first district to hit the 100 per cent mark, with Salmon Arm and Sonrento close behind, with 92.26 and 95.83 respectively.

Winners of a raffle of plants from the Walker garden, by which an additional $50 was realized, were Miss Pease, Mrs. Max dePuyfryer and Mrs. W. Jones.

Kelowna Board of Trade Calls For Women To List Sugar Users

Ottawa is Asking Help of Local Women in Making up Lists For Coupon Distribution—Listing Starts June 27

A call for between forty and fifty volunteer women workers who can write well, and who can give their services to the war effort for a few hours during the week-end of June 27th, has gone out from the Kelowna Board of Trade, to assist in the sugar rationing coupon preparation.

The Kelowna Board has been asked by the Wartime Prices and Trade Board to undertake the addressing and distribution of the sugar rationing coupons in this area. Following the return of the ration cards, a corps of volunteer workers is required for three days for the actual making out of the individual rationing books. E. W. Barton, Board secretary, has undertaken the organization of the project.

About fifty women are required. They should be good writers and able to work in either morning, afternoon or evening shifts. It is hoped that three shifts may be organized. If this could be arranged, one shift would work Saturday morning, Monday afternoon and Tuesday evening. The other two shifts would work similar periods. In this way, no shift would be asked to work too long hours.

White women have been mentioned, and the services of men will be gladly accepted.

Okanagan Lake Level

The excessively high water level of Okanagan Lake has brought in its train discomfort and damage to many residents in lake-front towns and worry to health authorities, and there seems little prospect of early relief of the situation. Although the level is almost stationary at present, the vagaries of the uncertain weather conditions, together with belated run-off from melting snow on the high watersheds, may cause a further rise.

At the time the control gates were placed at the outlet of the lake into Okanagan River old-time residents of the Valley expressed doubt as to the wisdom of the installation, as in effect a dam to the natural discharge of the lake was created, a dam dependent upon human factors of foresight and timeliness for operation of its gates. These factors have not been exercised with care and regularity. It is a matter of history that the Kelowna Board of Trade has had to maintain a close watch upon lake level and to make repeated remonstrances to the officials of the Dominion Department of Public Works in regard to tardiness in opening the gates so as to secure the lowest possible lake level before the arrival of spring freshet water from the creeks. There has been no improvement in this respect during a long period of years. The vigilance which has been exercised by the Kelowna Board of Trade should have been the regular duty of the Dominion authorities every year, but it has been treated generally in a lackadaisical manner and without forethought.

It is stated as the opinion of engineers that, even after the Okanagan River has been cleared and its channel deepened at Penticton, it will still be unable to carry off more than one-half of the daily influx of flood water from the creeks in spring freshet. Belief of this statement is considerably weakened by the fact that engineers have overlooked some obvious circumstances. For instance, it remained for a party of investigators from Kelowna to discover last week that silt and debris from Shingle Creek had created a bar in Okanagan River which was reducing the flow of the stream. The engineers working on the job of clearing the river channel were quite unaware of this fact.

Again, the amount of fall of Okanagan River between Okanagan Lake and Osoyoos Lake must be taken into account. The official altitude of Okanagan Lake is 1,130 feet above sea level at low water mark, that of Osoyoos Lake is 913 feet, a difference of 217 feet in a distance of about thirty miles as the crow flies, or probably thirty-five miles by the winding channel of Okanagan River. But from this mileage must be deducted about eight miles of practically level waterway for the enlargement of the river into Skaha (or Dog) and Vaseaux Lakes. So that, then, the drop of over two hundred feet actually occurs within about twenty-seven miles, which should give a good rate of flow to the river, if the channel were cleared of sand bars and rubbish, some of the sharpest bends removed and the water course widened where it has been narrowed by slides or torrential wash-outs.

As a matter of fact, Okanagan River runs rapidly where the channel is fairly straight and free of debris, notably in the neighborhood of McIntyre Creek and at Okanagan Falls, at the south end of Skaha Lake, where the rapids at various times during the past fifty years have been under serious consideration as a source of electric power. Even in the four-mile stretch of river between Okanagan Lake and Skaha Lake there is a drop of fourteen feet, the altitude of the latter being 1,116 feet. It may also be pointed out that the main canal of the Oliver irrigation project is taken out of the Okanagan River at a point south of Vaseaux Lake with sufficient head to supply a large portion of the Oliver area by gravity flow without pumping.

The method for dealing with the annual freshet in Okanagan Lake would not seem to present insuperable difficulties. If the Dominion Government still clings to its forty-year-old myth of "improvement of navigation on Okanagan River," let it really improve the bed of the stream by vigorous dredging, snag, debris and sand bar removal, by widening the channel where contracted and eliminating sharp bends. And if it insists upon the retention of the control gates at the outlet of the lake, the utmost vigilance should be exercised in their operation. They should be handled that when the spring freshets arrive the lake will have been drained to the lowest possible level. Then, if the run-off, regulated by the gates to prevent undue flooding further south, is not equal to the input from the creeks, at least the lake will rise comparatively slowly and the run-off will begin to make itself felt as the creeks diminish in volume.

The old argument will probably be trotted out once more as to riparian rights and wharves with insufficient depth of water for shipping, if the lake level is reduced. Water transportation on Okanagan Lake is now a mere shadow of what it was twenty or thirty years ago, while the population of lakeshore towns prejudicially affected by unduly high lake level has doubled or trebled in the same period. To satisfy the few wharf owners who may complain, the Dominion Government, being admittedly responsible for navigation facilities, could drive a few piles where required to extend wharves into deeper water, and then everybody would be satisfied. But would they? Was there not a certain lone tree, precious to the eyes of its owner, which he deemed many years ago to be threatened with fatal drought if the level of the nearby lake was lowered, so he protested lustily and fought a gallant fight to save it. Perhaps history will repeat itself. Who can say? It is not always the important things that bulk largest in questions of this sort. Passion, sentiment and prejudice also have their part, often to the exclusion of commonsense and of the welfare of the majority.

The "B.C." Security Commission.

The rate of progress being made by the B.C. Security Commission in the difficult problem of evacuating Japanese from the coastal area, gives weight to the suspicion that this body was ill-conceived from the first. The error, it would seem, was made in making it a "B.C. Security Commission," rather than a Dominion body, representative of the whole country.

The very name of the commission tends to make it insular and gives the impression in other provinces that the sole purpose of the body is to protect the province of British Columbia, whereas, actually, the work of the commission is national in scope and the fact that it is concerned with removing Japanese from the B.C. coastal area is merely incidental.

When the Dominion Government made the Commission a "B.C." commission and appointed all its members from this province, it did a disservice to Canada, an injustice to B.C. and made the work of the commission immeasurably harder.

Does not much of the antagonism arising in other provinces to the efforts of the commission arise from the suspicion that "B.C." is the only province vitally concerned in the commission's activities?

It would appear to us that had each province been accorded a representative on the commission, which would function as a national body dealing with a Dominion problem, that the remaining eight provinces would approach the problem in a more sympathetic attitude.

The reasonable solution of the problem is now, as it has always been, a distribution of the country's Japanese population among the provinces, cities and towns on a per capita basis. On that basis few provinces and few municipalities would withhold their co-operation.

Unfortunately, however, the suspicion has been aroused that B.C. is only seeking a means of getting rid of the Japanese problem which has plagued this province for many years.

A reorganization of the personnel of the committee is now being mooted. Perhaps it is not too late for Mr. King and his Cabinet to do what should have been done in the first place, make it a national and not a provincial body.

An Unseemly Proposal

An Ottawa dispatch credits a statement to the Department of Munitions and Supply to the effect that the names of individuals given permits to have tires retreaded or to buy new ones "will be turned over to newspapers for publication." This department must think that the Press can be used as a pillory for governmental purposes. That is not the function of newspapers. Applications for retreading old tires or for the purchase of new ones are made through governmental channels and it is the duty of the Government to insure that such are always warranted. Through the multiplicity of its officials it can do this and it is quite unnecessary to call newspapers to its aid by seeking to engage them in what any self-respecting publication would regard as nefarious publicity.

Of course, Ottawa has a precedent for the taking of this slightly underhand attitude. The radio branch of the Department of Marine and Fisheries for years now has endeavored to use the weekly newspapers as a club by which it may collect radio licences. A few delinquents are picked up and charged and fined and the local inspector immediately hightails it to the nearest offices seeking publicity on the prosecutions. Of course, the sole reason for these prosecutions is to scare other delinquents into purchasing their licences. No attempt is made to prosecute all delinquents and no attempt is made to prosecute non-licence-holders who live in rural areas.

The Courier refuses to be a tool of any government department and will not lend itself to pillorying the people of this district that the department may increase its revenue. During the past five years only once has it published the names of local people who have been prosecuted for not having a radio licence, and that was through a mistake. It is the only type of court case which is omitted and this is done because we consider them discriminatory and unfair and undertaken solely for their publicity value. The same attitude will be adopted towards the Munitions Department's tire suggestions, should an attempt be made to work this.

Bureaucratic offshoots of government sometimes display strange ethics, but there has been none stranger than the proposal which has now emanated from the department headed by Mr. Howe. It is, to put it mildly, indecent. The Press will co-operate with any department of the Government in all legitimate ways, but will not become its tool. It has a duty to the public as well as to officialdom. The good name of a newspaper is synonymous with its standing in public regard.

Time To Kill "Honor Rationing"

It would seem that Canadians are now getting their last chance to continue the "honor" system of rationing; it would seem from general reaction that most people feel that it is one chance too many. Undoubtedly most people would prefer to be upon a strict ration basis where everyone would be treated impartially.

In Ottawa, it is known, opinion is divided as to whether it is possible to enforce a half-pound ration of sugar without coupons, or carry out the much more difficult task of reducing tea consumption by a half and coffee by a quarter without the use of coupon books. Admitting the disadvantages of the coupon system, The Courier feels that it is time the country moved into the direct rationing system.

So far, Canadian housewives have done one of the most noteworthy jobs of the entire war effort in adhering to Donald Gordon's request for reduction of sugar consumption to the three-quarter pound per person per week. Even the most optimistic Price Board officials have been amazed how Canada's sugar consumption plummeted down since the original announcement of a voluntary rationing plan some months ago.

The reason given for the new sugar cut (men and ships) is a very real one. Another important influence is the need for keeping in step with the rationing program in the United States.

Now, a new set of problems must be faced. The old sugar ration of three-quarters of a pound allowed a good margin for most households. Now the Prices Board moves into two "danger" zones: the limitation of sugar to a point where many persons will be pinched; and the introduction of rationing to such commodities as tea and coffee where "average" consumption figures have no general meaning and each person is put on his honor to do his own mathematics and cut consumption by a half or a quarter in the case of these two commodities respectively.

Will it work? Chairman Donald Gordon holds tenaciously to the view that the "honor" system must be made to work as long as possible. Coupon rationing is still anathema to him, and recently he said, "Any system of coupon rationing is extremely expensive, leads to evasion and is wasteful of manpower in its enforcement procedure. We shall stay away from it as long as possible."

On the other hand, it is evident that the "honor" tea and coffee rationing is going to lead to many more evasions and will only encourage resentment among that section of the public which is trying to play the game. Most people will try to follow the lead of the Prices Board in cutting down their tea and coffee and sugar, but everyone (excepting the evaders) would be more happy if they knew all were on the same basis and that the Jones were not getting more than the Smiths.

The coupon rationing system is now being considered and, it may be that we will have to adopt the system. In the meantime, there is one fact the individual should remember: there is plenty for everyone, but each should guard against unnecessary buying of ANYTHING. In short, the individual should not purchase anything that is not needed for current consumption.

THIRTY YEARS AGO

Thursday, June 13, 1912

"The local squadron of the 30th B.C. Horse returned on Friday from the training camp at Vernon, at which they had been in attendance for eleven days. The period was several days shorter than had been expected, and it is understood that the training was curtailed owing to the very heavy expense of running the camp. The men looked very fit after their outing, with their faces tanned to a dusky hue by the continual sunshine they experienced, and all were loud in praise of the lavish hospitality extended to them by the citizens of Vernon."

At a meeting of the City Council on June 10th, it was decided to grant $1,000 to the Board of Trade for publicity purposes instead of an amount equal to one mill on the civic assessment, as requested by the Board, which would have amounted to about $2,000.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

Thursday, June 15, 1922

"Bernard Avenue is receiving its annual manicuring this week with grader, harrows and steam roller. When the work is finished, unwary motorists will do well to watch the speedometer, lest the tempting smoothness of the street lures them into breach of the traffic regulations."

"Waste irrigation water is running on to the roads and doing much damage in some localities. The authorities are determined that ranchers shall realize their responsibilities in this respect and will enforce the penalties prescribed for wilful neglect. One delinquent already has appeared in Police Court and was fined $5.00 and costs."

"J. O'Brien had a narrow escape from electrocution about ten o'clock on Wednesday morning, while working on the power line reconstruction through Chinatown. While pulling on a wire, his hands slipped and flew upwards, striking a live wire, and he received a jolt of 2,200 volts. He was rescued from certain death by the prompt work of Colin McMillan, who extricated him from his dangerous position, and O'Brien was able to walk about the same afternoon and tell of his sensations when struck by the 'juice.' His hands were badly burned, but he is fortunate to be alive."

At a meeting of sportsmen held on June 13th, it was decided to organize a local association for the protection of game and fish against breaches of the game regulations. The name chosen was Kelowna Fish and Game Protective Association, and the following officers were elected: Honorary Presidents, Mayor D. W. Sutherland, Dr. B. F. Boyce; President, J. C. Taylor; Vice-President, F. W. Fridham; Secretary-Treasurer, E. W. Wilkinson; Executive committee: Dr. W. J. Knox, H. C. S. Collett,

J. N. Cushing, M. Heron, St. G. P. Baldwin, C. H. Bond.

Favored with ideal summer weather with the heat modified by a pleasant breeze from the north, the first Okanagan Inter-School Track Meet passed with flying colors through the ordeal of inauguration on Saturday, June 16th, at the Recreation Ground in the City Park.

Not all the principal centres in the Valley were represented, but a good start was made. Summerland turned out in great strength with about seventy school pupils, while Penticton had a good representation, the pupils travelling by special boat. Enderby sent three cars and boys and girls, but Vernon could only muster five High School lads. Armstrong and Peachland were not represented. The rural schools in the Kelowna district all made entries, although with little hope of success against the larger schools owing to lack of practice.

Chief interest centred around the destination of the Inter-School Cup, donated by the Kelowna Amateur Athletic Club, for the town or school scoring the highest number of points. After a neck and neck race with Summerland, Kelowna emerged victorious with a total of 64 points to Summerland's 57. Next in order were: Penticton, 40; Enderby, 8; Vernon, 6; East Kelowna, 4; Westbank, 1.

A pleasing feature of the day was the generous hospitality extended to the visiting pupils by the Jack McMillan Chapter, I.O.G.E., which provided lunch for them free of charge.

TEN YEARS AGO

Thursday, June 16, 1932

After deliberating for six hours on Tuesday afternoon and evening, June 14th, the Vernon Assize jury which heard the trial of David Murdoch, former Chief of Police of Kelowna, on a charge of killing Jean Nolan, police informer, in the Mayfair Hotel, Kelowna, on January 19th, failed to reach an agreement. The jury was discharged by Chief Justice Morrison and the case was traversed until the Fall Assizes.

The first carload of lettuce ever shipped from Kelowna moved out on Tuesday, June 14th, to Edmonton. It was grown at Okanagan Mission by W. M. Thomson.

Five graduate nurses of the Kelowna General Hospital Training School received certificates and medals on Friday evening, June 10, at a ceremony in the auditorium of the Junior High School, in the presence of a large audience. The graduates were: Olive Marion Grey, Penticton; Inez Viola Hewer, Kelowna; Myrtle McLeod, Rutland; Menphis Gilbert, Chilliwack, and Mrs. Mary Rebecca Innesides, Fernie.

The Horticultural Branch of the Department of Agriculture reports ideal growing conditions of bright warm days and cool nights, with good soil moisture and all crops making rapid progress.

NOW THAT "CAPTAINS OF THE CLOUDS" is scheduled for Kelowna, it may be the opportune time to spill a few remarks about the movie. I have been sitting on them for the past three months, ever since I saw the picture in Montreal early in March. It was running in its sixth or seventh week at the one theatre at that time; that was just an indication of the smash hit this movie about the R.C.A.F. has been. To begin with, "Captains of the Clouds" in its completed form is largely due to the efforts of one man. It was his brain-child; it was he who ironed out the tricky details to make it possible. . . . and while other gent's have had their names blazoned in foot-high letters on the screen, he has received little of the glory of the finished product. The man is Joe W. G. Clark, D.F.C., Director of Public Relations of the Canadian army and air force. Upon his appointment to the extremely important task of coordinating the publicity surrounding Canada's armed forces, Mr. Clark realized the value of the motion picture screen as a medium of raising recruits in the U.S.A. At that time Canada's film industry was not reaching the American market (that has been changed since then) and you just can't walk into Hollywood and sell them the idea of producing a feature picture. Clark went about the thing casually and diplomatically. He had the germ of an idea—a feature "box office" picture devoted solely to the R.C.A.F. To begin with, he invited a national U.S. magazine to come to Canada and to do a feature story on the Dominion at war. The magazine was enthusiastic and sent a feature writer and a color photographer. The resulting article pleased everyone. That was the first link—and a most important one. . . .

r p m

LATER IN NEW YORK, Clark was introduced to an executive producer of Warner Brothers. They talked and talked and Clark used some of the color photographs to illustrate his remarks. The movie man waxed enthusiastic over their beauty and soon suggested a technicolor short. They talked some more and before long the producer had agreed that nothing less than a feature-length picture, with Hollywood stars, would do the trick. . . .

r p m

THAT WAS LATE IN 1940. In January of the next year, Norman Kelly Raine, a Canadian screen writer, came up from Hollywood to discuss the idea with the Director of Public Relations. After absorbing considerable "atmosphere," he returned to the coast and began to draft a story. In April of the same year, Warners announced they would undertake a technicolor picture about the R.C.A.F. . . .

WORK BEGAN IN HOLLYWOOD with James Cagney, Dennis Morgan and Brenda Marshall before the cameras. Other units worked near Ottawa, in Toronto and at Trenton. . . . In February of this year, after an extensive publicity campaign, the film opened in New York, Ottawa, Toronto, Vancouver, London, Eng., and Cairo all on the same night. . . . and held over for extended runs in each spot. Clark, when he saw the first "rushes," was completely disappointed, he told me in Ottawa last March. He did not realize that the production was to turn out to be a smash hit and a great credit to his country. Anyway, the studio is proud of the film (in addition to being very pleased over what it has cleaned up at the box office). And so they're planning a sequel—in which you'll see what happens to the captains of the clouds overseas. . . .

THE STORY concerns Canadian bush pilots who join the Air Force and, of course, there is the Hudson Bay factor's daughter to complicate matters. . . . Did I enjoy it? Well, I saw it twice. I was so breathless after the first time that I sat through it again and enjoyed it even more. True, I dislike Cagney very much and on his account almost did not go to see it. But even with Cagney in it, it is a wow. . . . and that is about the highest praise I can give. Then, too, it seems to me that the closing sequence is definitely "studio." It did not ring true with me. And I do not think that the German plane was a Messerschmidt. . . . you spell it, will you? . . . But if you like beauty, you can forget all that. It will be a long, long time before you forget the "wings" ceremony at Uplands and at the most unpredictable times you will suddenly recall the blue waters of a tree-lined Northern Ontario lake. These bush flying sequences are magnificent—there can be no other word. Perhaps they are a little too long as they cut down the footage devoted to the R.C.A.F., but I would not remove a foot of them. Rather I would increase the footage devoted to the Air Force. Again, "those who have been there" tell me that bombers do not take off from Newfoundland in formation, but that, too, is a minor point, much too small to injure the whole tremendous sweep of the picture. "Captains" is scheduled soon for the Empress. I think you'll like it. I went prejudiced and came away raving. Certainly, if you like beauty and color, you should not miss it. . . .

IT SEEMS HARD TO believe but this war so far is a comparatively short war. And so was the one which started in 1914, lasting less than five years. Almost all wars in the past have lasted longer than that. For example, the Trojan war lasted nine years, the Peloponnesian 27 years, the First Punic 23 years and the Second Punic 17 years. The so-called Hundred Years' War lasted 114 years and the War of the Roses was another 30 year conflict. Some wars were carried on for centuries with but short lapses. Thus the Saracenic wars went on for 858 years, from 634 to 1492 A.D. The Crusades lasted 175 years; the war between Spain and the Netherlands continued from 1568 to 1648. Probably the shortest wars were the Seven Weeks War between Austria and Prussia in 1866, and the Spanish-American War, which was under four months. Modern wars are fought on a faster, more furious scale, and with more skillful, death-dealing weapons. In one month of war today, more people and more territory are covered than was covered in years of ancient war. . . .

THE RIGHT KIND OF royal robe for this year's Queen of the May should have been a rain coat. . . . Physical culture experts advising girls to take slimming exercises for their hips and stomachs say that the only remedy for a dearth of girlies is a dearth of girlie. . . . "You can't take it with you" applies to a motor tire as well as a fortune, but people are more likely to give away money than motor tires. . . . Heard an interesting little story which gives one a spiritual buck and revives one's faith in human nature. It seems two soldiers were billeted by the Hostess Club in a home where there was an elderly lady. It was Mother's Day and the lady asked them if they would go to church with her. They said they would, but come Sunday morning and they overslept. The elderly lady was disappointed but shrugged her shoulders and said something to the effect of "Oh, well, the army. . . ." Early the next Sunday morning the phone rang and it was the two soldiers asking if they could go to church with her as they had promised the Sunday before. They had made a special trip down from Vernon to keep their promise. What price now "Oh, well, the army. . . .?"

No Soldiers For Fruit Harvest States Hon. J. L. Ralston

Defence Minister Advises City Council That Present Emergency Prevents Use of Vernon Servicemen

A letter from Col. the Hon. J. L. Ralston, National Defence Minister, was read at the meeting of the Kelowna City Council last Monday night.

Col. Ralston wrote in answer to the council's request that the department consider the use of soldiers from the Vernon camp to help in crop harvesting.

The Minister expressed every sympathy with the problem faced by the growers but pointed out that he was faced with heavy responsibilities in regard to Canada's defence at the present time.

The camp at Vernon was being extended and facilities for training were being greatly enlarged and Col. Ralston pointed out that in the present critical defence situation he could not in fairness to the people of Canada take men out of training when they might be needed.

In addition to stating that there was no reason why soldiers should be used for harvest work other than sailors or airmen, Canada's Minister of Defence pointed out that in his opinion members of the armed forces should not be called on for civilian needs. Civilian problems should be solved by civilians, the Minister stated.

In closing, Col. Ralston stressed that if the request was granted it would set up a precedent and his department would be deluged by demands for assistance by various groups in other parts of Canada which could not well be refused once the first step was taken.

The City Council, although regretting that the request for soldier labor had been turned down, expressed understanding of the position taken by Col. Ralston. As Mayor McKay expressed it, "I don't see how he could do anything else at the present time."

The City Clerk was instructed to send a copy of the letter to the Kelowna and District Labor Survey Committee.

1ST RUTLAND TROOP

"Do a Good Turn Daily"

Orders for the week ending June 27:

The Troop will meet at the school field on Monday, June 22, at 6:45 p.m., and then proceed to Kelowna for return games of softball with the 2nd Kelowna Troop.

Wear full uniform, as points will be awarded for attendance and uniform the same as at a regular meeting.

Duty Patrol: Eagles.

The meeting period on Monday was taken up almost entirely with softball. The game was late in starting due to the failure of some of the Rutland Scouts to show up on time, and proved to be a heavy slugfest with a big score, and this made a long affair of the evening after nine p.m. Rutland won the contest by 31 runs to 29 in a last inning batting rally that drove in eight runs. At the end of the seventh, when the game was tied, the visitors were a couple of runs ahead but sportingly agreed to continue to the full nine innings, and they actually increased their lead until the disastrous last half of the ninth, when the Rutland heavy hitters, opening up in the semi-darkness, drove in a flock of runs.

While the senior boys were playing, the younger Scouts got busy and organized a game of their own on another part of the field. The Kelowna boys won this contest by 15 to 14.

Next week we will play return games, and we are looking forward to a good evening of fun with the 2nd Kelowna.

MRS. BLACK SPEAKS TO INSTITUTE AT RUTLAND

Former Missionary Tells Women of Experiences in Korea and Life of People

The regular monthly meeting of the Rutland Women's Institute will be held in the Community Hall on Wednesday, June 10, at 2:30 p.m.

The speaker for the afternoon was Mrs. L. R. Black, wife of Dr. D. M. Black and former missionary in Manchuria, who spoke on the subject of "Korea." She gave a very interesting account of life in a Korean settlement, particularly describing the home life and conditions of the Korean women. She had on display a number of Korean children's garments, which were viewed with great interest by the ladies present.

A short business session was held at which the ladies decided to cater to the High School banquet on June 24. It was also decided to hold the regular meeting on July 8, and not to hold the customary annual picnic at that date. The annual Flower Show of the Institute will be held in the Community Hall on Thursday, July 30. At the close of the meeting refreshments were served by Mrs. R. T. Ritchie and Mrs. O. H. Sandberg.

Earl Bush has just received a cable from his son Roy, advising him that he had arrived safely in the Old Country with a contingent of the Canadian Forestry Corps.

Many of the pupils of the Rutland Public and High Schools are through with their examinations, or have been recommended, and are now taking employment in the orchards. All the pupils who are old enough to go to work have jobs awaiting them as soon as they are out of school.

Sergt. (W.A.C.) George Smith, R.C.A.F. son of Mr. and Mrs. James Smith, was home on a short furlough last week, and has now returned to his station at Lethbridge, Alberta.

Pilot Officer Basil Bond left on Friday, June 12, for the Coast, after spending a few days leave at home. From Vancouver he will go shortly to Prince Edward Island.

George Fletcher met with a slight accident last week, falling from a ladder while thinning. He was taken to hospital, but no injuries were sustained, and he was able to return home after a 24-hour stay.

Mrs. Sam Lee returned last week from a short visit to the Coast.

Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Wanless are spending a week at Dee Lake on a fishing trip. Mr. and Mrs. Don Dugan have also been spending a week at that well-known fishing resort, returning last week-end.

Inoculations against typhoid were given at a clinic held in the Community Hall on Saturday afternoon, June 13, for older pre-school age children and for adults up to 45 years of age. Dr. J. M. Hershney, M.H.O., assisted by the District Health Nurse, conducted the clinic.

Additional clinics will be held on Saturday, June 20, and Saturday, June 27, for second and third inoculations necessary for complete immunization. All the school children were previously inoculated at school. No new cases of typhoid have been reported.

Miss Mona Schell, Reg. N., arrived on Sunday to spend a fortnight's holiday at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Schell. She is a member of the nursing staff at Chilliwack General Hospital.

Miss Shirley Gray spent the last week-end as a guest of Miss Dorothy Miller at Peachland.

F. L. Fitzpatrick is a visitor to the Coast at the present time on business in connection with the packing and shipping firm with which he is associated.

ORCHARD HELP
NEEDED TODAY
FOR THINNING

Appeal Made to Everyone Able to Help to Register at Unemployment Office at Once

Fruit growers in the Kelowna district are badly in need of thinners and the labor demand exceeds the supply. On Monday there was a shortage of 75 thinners, for whom jobs were immediately available at the Insurance Unemployment office.

An appeal is being made to every one who can do so to register at the Unemployment office at the west end of Bernard Avenue.

Chester Owen, chairman of the Kelowna and District Labor Survey Committee, advised on Monday that "there is a definite emergency confronting the growers, and it is up to Kelowna to rally round and see that the work is done."

A preliminary appeal to the thousand odd packing house workers, who will not be needed for some weeks, to call at the Unemployment office and arrange to take on a few days' work at this time. It is understood that this can be arranged without these workers' jobs in the packing houses being jeopardized, and that they will be able to take on their regular employment when called by the shippers.

"If everyone that can do a few days or weeks' work now will register," Mr. Owen continued, "I feel sure that the growers' needs will be met without any trouble. Kelowna is fortunate that the shortage is not far more serious. In the Fraser Valley, over 2,000 strawberry pickers are needed immediately and they have a real emergency there. Because of their needs, it is impossible for the Interior to secure help from the Coast. It is our problem and we must solve it here."

LARGE INCREASE IN ONIONS

Vernon to Westbank Vegetable Acreage Increased by Over Seven Hundred Acres With Big Increase in Onions

According to statistics just released by the Provincial Department of Agriculture, vegetable growers from Vernon to Westbank have increased their plantings this year over 1941 by 719 acres. Greatest increase is in the Vernon district with 292 more acres planted this year.

Kelowna planted 1,263 acres in vegetables last year and this year's acreage will amount to 1,350, an increase of 86 acres. Largest increase in the Kelowna district is in onions. In 1941 growers planted 258 acres of onions, but this year 412 acres will be in onion production.

LICENCE REFUSED
Application of H. S. Drysdale for a trade licence for trading in used goods was refused on an unanimous vote by the Kelowna City Council at its meeting last Monday night.

The Simpson diving stand question has advanced another step towards solution.

Mayor G. A. McKay reported to the council that, together with City Engineer Blakeborough, he had interviewed Mr. Simpson in a last effort to effect a solution to the problem and it was agreed that all planning on top of the piles would be removed.

This has now been done, the Mayor reported, and the piles will be taken out at a later date by Mr. Simpson when conditions are opportune. The City Clerk was instructed to write H. V. The Simpson diving stand question has advanced another step towards solution.

Mayor G. A. McKay reported to the council that, together with City Engineer Blakeborough, he had interviewed Mr. Simpson in a last effort to effect a solution to the problem and it was agreed that all planning on top of the piles would be removed.

This has now been done, the Mayor reported, and the piles will be taken out at a later date by Mr. Simpson when conditions are opportune. The City Clerk was instructed to write H. V. Craig, solicitor for stand had been dismantled and that no further action would be taken by the Kelowna City Council in the matter at the present time.

GIRL GUIDE NOTES CAN. FUSILIERS BAND TO GIVE CONCERT HERE

1st Kelowna Girl Guide Company

Orders for week:
Next Rallies: Both at the Scout Hall, at 7:00 p.m. Thursday, June 18, orderly patrol, Larks; Monday, June 22, orderly patrol, Bluebirds and Hummingbirds. The Monday Rally will be the dress rehearsal for the entertainment.

The attendance was not very good on Thursday, but we had some good practice in the marching and other numbers for the entertainment. On Monday last, with a much better attendance, the practice also was better.

Recruit Joy Wasson was enrolled on Thursday, and during the week Betty Hyder passed the tests for the First Class Landrover and Domestic Service badges; P. L. Madeline Thibault passed the Health Rules and the Stalking and Tracking tests, and Joan Wilkinson also passed the Health Rules. All these gave points to the Canary Patrol, which has first place this week, with Nightingales second. The Inter-patrol Competition Cup will be presented to the entertainment. It is still quite doubtful which patrol will be first.

Our annual bazaar and entertainment will be held on Wednesday, June 24, in the Scout Hall. Every one to be at the Scout Hall that afternoon by 2:30 p.m. to prepare and decorate the booths and hall, and all to be on duty at 7:00 p.m. ready for "doors open" at 7:15 p.m.

The patrol duties for the entertainment will be as follows: Oracles in charge of soft drinks; Nightingales, home cooking; Larks, the "White Elephant" and variety booth; Bluebirds and Hummingbirds will attend to Brownies' costumes; Canaries will look after properties and decorate the hall. There will be a ticket selling competition for patrols and individual Guides and Brownies.

The Brownies are preparing a fairy play, "Fables of the Seasons," with lots of singing and dancing in it as their contribution to the program. They are very eager and are doing their best to live up to their motto, "Lend a Hand," in this way.

CENTRE AUDIENCE ENTERTAINED BY SPITFIRE SHOW

Bert Chichester Gives Fine Showing of Movies Showing Okanagan and Cariboo Scenes

A fair-sized crowd was agreeably entertained on Friday evening at the Okanagan Centre Community Hall by the showing of moving pictures made in the Cariboo and Okanagan by Bert Chichester, of Rutland.

Accompanied by Joe Spurrier, Vice-President of the Kelowna Rod and Gun Club, Mr. Chichester motored from Kelowna with the machine, and after a short introduction by Mr. Spurrier, in which the development of the Spitfire Fund of the club was reviewed, the pictures were run off with comments on the subjects.

Most of the four reels exhibited were in color. The first was a great deal of artistry in choice of subjects and composition.

Especially interesting and unusual were the pictures of Big Horn, taken on Terrace Mountain, back of Nahon and Flintry, while quite the latest were the fine pictures taken very recently of work on the Black Mountain irrigation project. These showed the big bulldozers at work, men with one small horse hauling the refuse blue rock from the tunnel work, and many other views in the vicinity.

The Spitfire Fund was augmented by a satisfactory amount, the Centre Women's Institute is richer by a few dollars, and all in the audience probably appreciate the benefit to their own valley much more as a result of the evening.

Miss Wiseman and Miss Enid Mc-Masters, of Vernon, were guests last week at Miss MacLennan's hotel.

J. Vernon, of Ganges, Salt Spring Island, a government surveyor, was in the Centre early last week looking up a foster-brother. He unexpectedly ran across his old buddy of World War I, J. Brixton, recognizing him only by his voice when passing on the street. The satisfaction at the reunion was mutual, and Mr. and Mrs. Brixton persuaded Mr. Vernon to spend the week with them.

Pte. Garth Snyder, of Vancouver, has been spending a recent fortnight with his wife and sisters at the Centre.

Mr. and Mrs. Rheim moved on Saturday into the Kennard cottage from the Westbury, which has been taken over by the Okanagan Valley Land Co. to house a company of Orchard workers who came in from Calgary on Saturday afternoon.

Patrons of the Centre Union Library will find the library housed henceforth in the Centre school, with the hours of opening the same as usual, viz., 3:00 to 4:00 p.m. on Wednesdays; 7:00 to 8:00 p.m. on Fridays.

Mr. and Mrs. Fallows and small son, George, were in Armstrong, and Vernon for a good part of last week.

Speaker Describes Differences of Race and Caste Which Place Difficulties in Way of Union

Col. F. O. St. John, D.S.O., M.C., addressed the Kelowna Junior Board of Trade on Wednesday night, June 10 last, at the Aquatic Club.

Agassiz was a good success as to weather and the interest of those present. Many farmers apparently took advantage of the good weather to get in their hay. After lunch, there was a discussion with special reference to increasing hog production and the economical use of feeds. There was a good turnout of junior farmers, who took part in judging several classes of stock along with grown-ups. The Experimental Farm staff, under the direction of Mr. Hicks, were hosts to the gathering.

KELOWNA SEA CADET CORPS "Grenville"

Upon receiving the inspection report, the Committee tendered a vote of thanks to Mr. Charman and the officers, being very pleased with the results. Lieutenant Richardson certified the Corps as being 100 per cent efficient.

This summer there will be no camp. Unfortunately, owing to the large number of senior boys employed this year and the abnormal height of the lake level, it will be impossible to break out a decent camp. However, the Committee intends to arrange one all-day outing some time during July, perhaps one Sunday late in the month. It is also hoped that there will be special voluntary parades arranged to carry on through the holidays, during which the boys will learn field training, take up range and boat work.

Mr. Charman intends to train two boats' crews for this summer's regatta—maybe Penticton won't win this time.

With the beginning of our new year in September, there will be a much larger Corps. There is every indication that the Navy is out to boost Canadian corps, particularly those in the west, for it appears that the Eastern Sea Cadets are still pretty well Navy League. With the holidays over you boys will have the job of settling down to some industrious working. There will be a complete turnover in methods of teaching—we're sort of getting modernized, just like the new company division. You will learn your seamanship through entirely different views; there will be different methods in the instruction and in learning the old works the new way.

There have been very many complimentary remarks on the appearance of the Sea Cadets on the "May Day" parade. But even then, it was not a full turnout. It's a pity that the only interest you can hold for the Corps comes just once in a while. You would have quite a surprise if you saw the whole Corps on parade—the Armoury would be

FIELD DAY FOR HOG RAISERS
Swine Breeders Will Hold Meet at Armstrong on June 24 at Dr. McKee's Ranch

Interior swine breeders will hold a field day at Dr. W. B. McKee's ranch near Armstrong on Wednesday, June 24 next.

The program will be of interest to all hog raisers, with a talk by Harold Stevens, live stock grader from Vancouver, and colored technical films.

The swine breeders' field day at Agassiz was a good success as to weather and the interest of those present. Many farmers apparently took advantage of the good weather to get in their hay. After lunch, there was a discussion with special reference to increasing hog production and the economical use of feeds. EAST KELOWNA A.R.P. WORK CONTINUES
Warrants for A.R.P. Wardens Have Been Received and Each Householder Will be Visited by Wardens

During the early spring East Kelowna, South Kelowna and Okanagan Mission were organized for A.R.P. under the chief warden, J. R. Stirling, who has charge of the three districts. District chief wardens and wardens have been appointed, but owing to moving the head office from Victoria to Vancouver, considerable delay has been experienced and the warrants for the wardens have just come through. During the next week each household will be visited by the warden of their section to see that the blackout arrangements are complete. While all branches of A.R.P. are organized, J. R. Stirling reports that any organization desirous of holding a public meeting to discuss arrangements should contact him.

Mrs. Frank Seddon, of Beaverdell, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. Robertson.

The horse show tournament held in the park, Monday, June 8, under the auspices of the Gyro club, was supervised by D. Evans. There were several keen contestants, John Evans, of East Kelowna, won first prize for his form and a valuable horse shoe. A donation of $100 in such a club should contact D. Evans.

The regular monthly meeting of the East Kelowna Women's Institute was held in the hall Tuesday, June 9. The annual report, which was read by Mrs. D. Evans showed that the Institute had a busy year. Money had been collected to finish the furnishing and painting of the South-East Kelowna ward in hospital. A turkey supper had been held in December. Money had been provided to buy wool for the junior room of the East Kelowna school, which the pupils knitted into afghans and have been given to the Hospital Auxiliary toward the linen fund for the Hospital. The annual plant and bulb sale had been held in April and had proved very successful financially. A donation had also been given the Preventorium. The Institute supplies the cotton and tea to the local Red Cross, they have also taken over the sending of cigarettes to all local boys who have gone overseas. Wool comforters had been completed and sent to the Bombed Britons. Sewing for the Bombed Britons had also been done by members. The Institute will not hold meetings during the summer and fall, as most of the members are too busy with various branches of the war work.

Any time spent on duty for the Ladies' Hostess Club can count as part of this time. "We would also like all Scouts who wish to obtain a Scout sweatshirt with the Troop name stamped on the same, to let the Scoutmaster know at once. We are also waiting for ticket returns from several Scouts who have not yet brought in the same.

SUNDAY SCHOOL VAN STALLED BY HIGH WATER

Eastern Girls Find Road on West Side of Lake in Bad Shape—Fruit Board Meets at Westbank

On Tuesday an Anglican Sunday School van stalled through Westbank en route down the valley, driven by Miss Gore and Miss Grant, of Ottawa and Toronto. The travellers drove down the west side of the lake and found the road very bad. At one point they were forced to wait for three hours before a truck arrived to guide them across a stretch of considerable length which was under water. The van will make three round trips between Vernon and the border.

The annual meeting at Westbank of the Tree Fruit Board was held on Thursday evening of last week at the Community Hall. Allan Davidson was appointed chairman and C. J. Tolhurst as acting secretary. Charles Butt was Westbank's nominee to the Board for this year. Following the transaction of other business, G. A. Board Chairman, gave a short talk.

A.W.I. Jacqueline Paynter arrived on Monday and spent the day of her visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Paynter.

Pte. Mat Hill is spending a leave here with his wife and small son.

L.A.C. Harry Parker arrived on Saturday to spend a furlough with his parents. Though formerly stationed at Calgary, he will return to Trenton, Ont., there to continue his training with the army. With him is Victor Falwell, of Calgary.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Keddy have as their guests this week Mr. and Mrs. Earl Keddy, of Mara.

On Wednesday night of last week, thieves entered the yard of H. C. Last and made off with a four-gallon crock and a sack of potatoes. Mr. Last has offered a reward of $10 for information leading to the arrest of the culprit or culprits. Several other people have reported surprising marauders, and the community is urged to keep a strict lookout for articles they know have been stolen.

More About 1 MAGAZINES NEEDED

ed with them, copies of magazines to which they subscribe. If possible, about four copies of each magazine will be required.

Thus a family taking, say, Cosmopolitan will need to have four copies delivered each month to The Kelowna Courier office, and the committee will depend upon receiving a copy of the Cosmopolitan each month from that source.

Another family may provide a copy of the Saturday Evening Post each week, another a copy of Liberty or some other magazine. Magazines of interest to men are required.

Persons willing to co-operate are asked to phone The Courier, 96, and leave their name, address, and the magazine or magazines that they will contribute each month.

It is important, of course, that if you agree to contribute some magazine after you have read it, it be on a permanent basis and that the magazine be delivered to The Courier office each month.

Some of the magazines suggested are: American; American Mercury; Collier's; Canadian Geographic; Cosmopolitan; Liberty; Look; Life; Click; Magazine Digest; New World; Maclean's; News Week; Popular Mechanics; Popular Science Monthly; Readers Digest; Red Book; Rod and Gun and all other sporting magazines. Saturday Evening Post; Toronto Saturday Night; Time; World Digest; all movie magazines.

That is only a suggested list, of course. It may be possible you subscribe to others which would appear on the list. The Kelowna Courier office will be glad to accept all picture magazines, all of the "digest" type, mechanical and scientific magazines, are all desired.

This article is your invitation to help Kelowna over your magazine. Now, Decide which ones you will contribute and call The Courier and give your name, address, and the name of the magazine which you will deliver to The Courier after each issue.

The magazines will be sorted, bundled and shipped at two week intervals, it is hoped.

Your used magazines could serve no better purpose than providing entertainment for the men serving Kelowna's own ship of the Royal Canadian Navy, H.M.C.S. Kelowna.

Spraying is delayed by bad weather. Growth conditions in the orchards are excellent. Bing cherries are expected about the 20th. Apple thinning is finished and growers are starting on peaches and pears.

Tomatoes, cantaloupes and cucumbers will be late unless the weather warms up immediately. Some fine quality cabbage is moving out of the Osoyoos district and early potatoes are also moving in quantity.

Kootenay and Arrow Lakes. All crops need warm weather. Strawberries are late and all vegetable crops have been checked by cool, wet weather. The cherry crop will be lighter and a week late. Peaches are also lighter and pears and apples are normal.

The weather has been helpful to hay and grain crops and alfalfa is ready for cutting.

Cherries will show a good crop. There is a reduction in strawberry acreage. Gooseberries are available, with a good crop. Plums are very fair but pears are light, with some frost damage. Early apples are good, also Spies and Rome Beauties. Delicious are light.

C. R. C. C.

GROWERS CRY FOR WARM WEATHER TO HELP CROPS

Spraying Delayed by Rain and Crops are Running Two Weeks Late in Most Areas—Tree Fruits in Good Shape

Crop conditions in the Kelowna district, as reported by the Provincial Department of Agriculture, show that all warm weather crops have been retarded by cool, wet conditions.

Apples are developing satisfactorily and are of good size for this season of the year. There is some apprehension about the cherry crop, but it is too early to state what influence weather conditions may have on the yield.

Weather has been favorable for development of powdery mildew and scab on apples. These diseases are more in evidence than for many years. Growers are having difficulty in applying codling moth sprays because of rain and wind.

Cabbage, early lettuce and bunch vegetables, such as carrots, beets, etc., are ready for market. Tomato plants of all varieties are well advanced. Indications are that prunes will be considerably lower than in 1941.

In small fruits, strawberries are showing a few ripe berries and this fruit will soon be available to local markets. Raps and other bush fruits are developing nicely and promise fairly good yields.

In vegetables, local asparagus is now in sufficient quantity for shipments, with beets and carrots coming into local stores. Head lettuce is moving freely in the Armstrong district as well as hot-house tomatoes from the Vernon area.

In field crops, there is excellent growth in both grains and hay, also the dried pea acreage, but weather is holding up the first alfalfa cut. Weed growth is terrific in all crops and is creating a serious problem owing to labor shortage. There has been no necessity for irrigation up to the present.

Salmon Arm and Main Line. Fruit trees are making excellent growth and so far there has been no evidence of fire blight. Spraying is difficult owing to wet weather and damp soil conditions. The set of apples is normal with the exception of Delicious, which have dropped heavily in some areas. At Kamloops the set of all varieties is heavy. Pears have set fairly well. Plums and cherries are light, while cherries are a good crop at Salmon Arm and Sorrento. Strawberries are promising and should be moving this week.

In the irrigated sections, all vegetable crops are making rapid development. At Kamloops, new carrots are moving and early potatoes will be ready in two weeks. Asparagus is moving to the canneries.

Insect pests are not active but codling moth is quite serious in spite of the weather. Young worms are now entering the fruit, and growers should spray whenever weather permits. It would appear necessary for many growers to make an extra application of fire brood control, owing to the depletion of spray coverage and delayed applications.

Westbank, Peachland, Summerland. Heavy rains and some hail damage have caused some apple and cherry injury. Orchard tree fruits are sizing well. There is a large cherry drop but no splitting has occurred as yet. The pear drop is over and Bartlets are lighter than in previous years. The apple drop is also over but it is too early to estimate the yield. Apricot thinning is over and peach thinning is in progress, with a good crop expected. Codling moth control has been delayed by the wet weather, and peach aphid is bad in some orchards. Peach leaf curl, although showing in sections, is not as bad as last year. Peach mildew is not showing as yet. Apple mildew is bad this season, but the spray control was omitted. Vegetable crops are coming along nicely.

Penticton-Osoyoos. Spraying is delayed by bad weather. Growth conditions in the orchards are excellent. Bing cherries are expected about the 20th. Apple thinning is finished and growers are starting on peaches and pears.

Tomatoes, cantaloupes and cucumbers will be late unless the weather warms up immediately. Some fine quality cabbage is moving out of the Osoyoos district and early potatoes are also moving in quantity.

Kootenay and Arrow Lakes. All crops need warm weather. Strawberries are late and all vegetable crops have been checked by cool, wet weather. The cherry crop will be lighter and a week late. Peaches are also lighter and pears and apples are normal.

The weather has been helpful to hay and grain crops and alfalfa is ready for cutting.

Cherries will show a good crop. There is a reduction in strawberry acreage. Gooseberries are available, with a good crop. Plums are very fair but pears are light, with some frost damage. Early apples are good, also Spies and Rome Beauties. Delicious are light.

C. R. C. C.
Members of the Corps will work in the Bombed Britons Depot, Lawrence Avenue, on Friday evening, at 10:00 hours. The cherry crop will be lighter and a week late. Peaches are also lighter and pears and apples are normal.

AQUATIC RIPPLES

The tearoom was broken into by sneak thieves last week and five dollars worth of goods were stolen. Steps have been taken to ensure that no repetition will occur.

The first two Saturday night dances were most successful and augur well for their continued success. From now on these dances will be a regular feature each Saturday night, and warmer weather will add to their enjoyment.

Rising water in Okanagan Lake resulted in a bit of sack-lifting to the walk in front of the clubhouse. A line of sandbags was placed along the face of the walk and the waves held in check.

The club directors have decided not to proceed with the projected swimming pool. High water makes the underwater work impossible at the present time and it is expected that the high lake level will continue well into the summer.

The club premises are going to be brightened up by a new coat of green stain to the roof and new pennants will soon fly from the flagstaffs, having been completed by the Ladies Auxiliary.

CANADA WILL CELEBRATE ARMY WEEK

June 29 to July 5 Chosen as Army Week—Each Day Will Emphasize Some Phase of Army Life

In the week from June 29 to July 5 the people of Canada are doing honor to their army—the Gentlemen in Khaki who have offered their lives, if need be, in the defence of the country, the men whose presence in the United Kingdom for the past two years, like a fist constantly shaken in the face of Hitler, has helped to discourage any attempt to invade those islands.

The decision to hold Army Week was the result of a demand by the people themselves, a spontaneous urge to do tribute to the service "second to none."

The program has been so designed that each day emphasizes some phase of army life. Monday, June 29, will be Soldiers' Day. Special entertainments are planned for the soldiers. Gifts, parcels and letters will be sent to men in the service.

Understanding between the army and the civilian population will be fostered on Tuesday, Civilian Day. Attention will be focused on the question: "What am I doing as a civilian to support the soldier in this war?" Restaurants will be asked to prepare meals according to army diet sheets.

Co-operation between the army and the other armed services will be emphasized on Wednesday, United Services Day. Thursday will be devoted to local events. On Friday the important part played in the defence of Canada by the Reserve Army will be spotlighted.

Tribute to our allies will be paid on Saturday, United Nations Day. Detachments of the forces of the United States will be invited to visit Canada and units of the United Nations training in Canada will take part in special programs. Sunday will be a Day of Prayer.

SIGN PERMIT

Permit for the erection of a sign for the Holmwood Guest House was granted by the Kelowna City Council at its meeting last Monday night.

HIGHWAY AT PEACHLAND THREATENED

Road Crews Working to Keep Back Lake Water From Washing Out Highway—Rock Blasted

High winds and heavy storms on Okanagan Lake have threatened the highway in the Peachland district, as the lake level is the highest in many years. The road washed badly last week and road crews have been busy putting brush along the lake side in an effort to save the highway from further damage. The rock points between Deep Creek and town have been blasted and the rock filled in to form a barrier between the lake and the road, which follows the lake for the five miles between Trepanier and Deep Creek.

The lake is the highest since 1928 and is now almost high enough to cover both the C.P.R. and C.N.R. wharves. The C.N.R. slip, which normally is high above the water level, is now under water. Boat houses have been washed away along the beach, which is now practically non-existent because of the height of the water.

Both creeks, Trepanier and Deep Creek, appear to be past their flood and are going down every day. Irrigation dams are in good shape for the season's operations, according to all reports.

A successful muster parade was held by the Peachland Rangers on Thursday morning, June 11. The muster of this unit now number fifty, and a good number of them turned out for the parade. Lieut. J. H. Wilson, Officer Commanding, expects another muster to be held shortly and until then practice and drill will be carried on.

A certain amount of confusion has arisen locally regarding the membership of the Rangers and the information from headquarters was that the same men could not be members of both defence units, but later it has been found that the same men can be the same as long as the key men in each group are not included in each organization.

A meeting of the A.R.P. has been called by Rev. B. F. Gummow and warden books, arm bands and badges will be issued, while the names of those acting as A.R.P. wardens will be sent in to A.R.P. headquarters. The A.R.P. has been divided into districts at a previous meeting, with different wardens assigned to cover certain districts.

R. C. Palmer, Superintendent of the Summerland Experimental Station, showed three reels of most interesting moving pictures of flowers and scenes in the Okanagan at a meeting of the Women's Institute on Friday evening, June 12. Wild and cultivated flowers shown in their natural colors and settings were a vision of loveliness while views of the lakes of the Okanagan were also beautiful.

A letter of appreciation for a dozen tins of jam was read by the Secretary, Mrs. C. T. Redstone, from the matron of a residential school for evacuated children in Linlithgow, Scotland. She said that the jam was purchased a drier for fruit were discussed, and it was decided to ask F. E. Atkinson, of the Summerland Experimental Station, for a demonstration of the method of doing this work might be followed.

In order to secure the services of a home economics teacher for the school on a part time basis, in conjunction with Westbank and probably Rutland, it was decided to write to Miss McLenagan, Director of Home Economics for the C. I. to ascertain what could be done in this regard.

Due to illness, the Secretary, Mrs. C. Duquemin, sent in her resignation, and Mrs. Redstone, who had been acting in that capacity, was asked to continue for the rest of the year. Her place as a director will be filled by the Executive.

Arrangements for the meeting were in charge of Mrs. N. Witt, Conventor for Agriculture and Canadian Industries. The President, Mrs. J. Bush, was in the chair and gave a report on the recent conference of Institutes held at Kelowna.

An interesting address on the subject of "China" was given by Miss F. Jack at the United Church on Tuesday, June 9. Moving pictures of the Burma Road and other scenes in China added to the effect of the lecture, which was much appreciated by the audience.

Mrs. W. D. Miller was hostess to the Women's Association of the United Church, which met at her home on Wednesday afternoon, June 10.

The Board of the Victorian Order of Nurses for the Peachland-Westbank district met on Wednesday evening, June 10, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. Watt.

Pte. L. B. Fuls, from Alberta, and L/Cpl. Kenneth Fuls, from time and space. Suffice it to say, we have lost all we ever had. So, write to me if you have time, Auntie Ethel. It will be just too wonderful for me to hear from you. My original plan was to stay in New Delhi at the Y.W.C.A. while I work for yet awhile and see how the situation works. If it gets any worse, I shall make a bee line for Aunt Lucy, regardless of what she says. Wish I could see you, too. Perhaps I shall, too, one of these days.

According to a cable received on Saturday night by his parents, Wireless Air Gunner Bill Sanderson has arrived safely in England. He spent his embarkation leave at his home in Peachland recently.

P.O. George Priebe was one of the recent arrivals in England, according to a letter received by friends in Peachland.

Miss Ruth Elliott arrived Friday morning at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. Sutherland, after completing a business course at Vancouver.

Pte. T. A. Roberts is home to spend six days leave from the Vernon Camp.

Miss Shirley Gray, of Rutland, was a week-end guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Miller.

W. Oakley, of Trepanier, is a patient at the Kelowna Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Baplist were week-end visitors at Vernon. They were accompanied to Vernon by Mrs. Leo Kiser and daughter, Marcelle, who had spent the week in Peachland.

Mrs. C. Inglis, Jr., and baby daughter left Thursday, June 11, for their home in Trail.

Mrs. E. Davidson, of the Edgewater Inn, left Thursday, June 11, for Winnipeg.

Mrs. A. Young received a letter recently from her niece, Patricia Elliott, formerly of Kelowna, which told of heart-breaking experiences in escaping from that country. Mrs. Young's brother was on government work in the Straits Settlements, and his three daughters were all born and brought up there. Both he and his wife are now dead, and the letter from Patricia tells of the fate of the girls, as follows:

"New Delhi, India, April 18, 1942. You will undoubtedly be very surprised to hear from me, as I have never written to you before, but I feel I must write to you to tell you how things are faring with us. Just to remind you, I am Ivy, otherwise known as Patricia, as I hate the name of Ivy. Why Daddy ever gave me that name, I don't know."

"With the fall of Malaya and Singapore, you must have been wondering what happened to us. Mavis, her husband and baby, are in Kuala Lumpur (Jap-occupied territory). Syb is missing, as are her two babies. Dick, his wife and baby, are at a hill-station somewhere in India, and I am at present staying for a while at Ambala, another station in India. I hope to make my living as a stenographer in New Delhi before I really make up my mind to go to England. Just now, it doesn't seem fair to go there, what with the rationing that is going on."

"I was fortunate enough to leave Singapore just one week before it fell. Dick too left, but on a different boat, and I was very surprised to see him waiting at the docks for me. We travelled troop fashion. Believe me, it was no pleasure trip, but we didn't mind as long as we got out of that hell hole. Syb was reluctant to leave, but I told him later with heaps of other evacuees who later got torpedoed by the Japs while thirty miles from some island and had to swim for their lives. Syb's little Sally Ann got burned a little too, I understand. They were picked up by a Dutch boat which, I'm told, was later captured by the Japanese."

"I'm so frightfully unhappy as I've tried every means in my power to get more news of them."

"I wrote to Aunt Lucy (by air-graph) the other day, asking her if I could go out to her, and stay with her while I looked around for a bit. I am waiting anxiously for a reply. India is no place for a young girl like me to live in all alone, and without Syb life is just hell. I think I'd much prefer to live in a white country any day. This is a miserable existence, believe me. The evacuation people did much for us. They were most kind and efficient, but you will realize what anxiety can do when you've lost a loved one."

"Today I feel particularly unhappy. Why, I don't know. Aunt Lucy and you seem to be all that's left to me now, and you are both millions of miles away. How I wish I were out there with you now. The heat of India is unbearable and the place stinks. I am trying hard to adapt myself to the conditions of living, which actually are not really very bad and, compared with others, I can consider myself darned lucky, I guess."

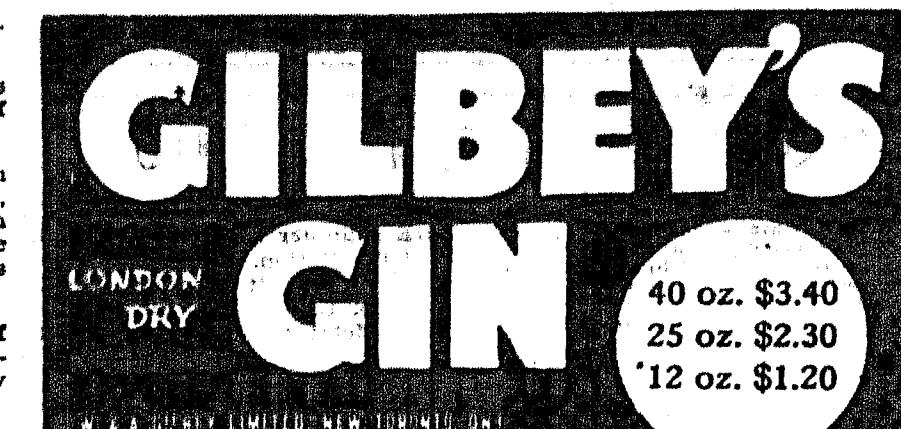

"Well, and how are you all faring? I see Canadian troops are now in Britain, according to the papers. Well, it won't be long now, I guess, before the Jerries get the thrashing they deserve, but I do about these little yellow-faced dogs who swarm all over the East now."

"I would like to tell you all we've been through since Japan declared war, but it would take too much time and space. Suffice it to say, we have lost all we ever had. So, write to me if you have time, Auntie Ethel. It will be just too wonderful for me to hear from you. My original plan was to stay in New Delhi at the Y.W.C.A. while I work for yet awhile and see how the situation works. If it gets any worse, I shall make a bee line for Aunt Lucy, regardless of what she says. Wish I could see you, too. Perhaps I shall, too, one of these days."

APPLICATION CARDS FOR COUPON RATIONING OF SUGAR

will be mailed next week to every Household in Canada

Canadians will be required to register so that ration cards, good for the 10-week period, commencing July 1st, may be issued immediately. At the end of that period a coupon ration book, good for six months, will be issued.

HOW TO REGISTER

Residents in Urban Areas not served by Letter Carrier, and Residents in Rural Areas

Application cards will be distributed to all householders through the post offices on or before Tuesday, June 23rd. Additional cards will also be delivered for every person resident in the household, who bears a different last name from the head of the household. If needed, extra cards may be secured from local post offices.

These application cards should be filled out immediately and dropped in the nearest mail box or post office. A pamphlet giving complete instructions will be delivered with each card. As soon as your name is duly registered, at headquarters, ration cards, good for a ten-week period, will be mailed to you—one ration card for each person in your home. These will be for sugar only.

Coupon Rationing for Sugar Becomes Effective July 1st

Beginning July 1st, no one will be permitted to buy sugar for regular domestic use without a ration coupon.

Prompt co-operation on the part of the public in filling out and returning their application cards is necessary to ensure return of the ration coupon card in time to purchase sugar on or after the above date.

Remember—the amount of sugar allowed each individual under the new coupon rationing plan will be exactly the same as allowed at present—a pound per person per week.

UPKEEP OF WIRELESS BIG JOB

Wireless Electrical Mechanic
Has Important Role in Ground Crew Operations of Air Force

Seldom talked or written of is the Air Force wireless electrical mechanic, and yet the successful operation and safe return of aircraft is no less dependent upon him than upon the airframe or aero engine mechanic.

Being responsible for the wireless equipment both in an aircraft and on the ground, he must have an extensive knowledge of wireless theory. Numerous types of equipment are in use today, and he must be familiar with their construction in order to locate and remedy any trouble that may develop.

The wireless mechanic, prior to the flight of an aircraft, tests fully all electrical equipment in connection with the radio apparatus. Should an electrician not be available, he is then responsible for all remaining electrical equipment in the aircraft, line at the key and lights, landing lights, warning horns, magnetos, electric motors and generators and a portion of the bombing gear. He must also check remote control gun firing apparatus and electrical circuits in reflector sights.

The average aircraft contains a great many electrical circuits which must function properly before the aeroplane is in flight, as repairs by the pilot or a member of the crew would be practically impossible in the air. The electrical circuits, being normally built into the craft, are not readily accessible while in flight, and for this reason the importance of a thorough check-up on the ground by the wireless mechanic will be readily understood.

In addition to his knowledge of theory and construction of wireless apparatus, the W.E.M. must be able to take his place at the key and put out a message in Morse, use the signal lamps and the semaphore flags. He must be thoroughly conversant with the direction finding loop by which navigators chart their position by radio when the degree of visibility renders other methods useless.

Ground stations must also be serviced by the W.E.M., and his knowledge must be extensive enough to set up and operate a sending and receiving station any place that operations may require its use. All in all, the wireless electrical mechanic has a most important role in the Air Force today and, as radio, infanery, the enterprising mechanic is constantly experimenting for improvements. His experiments are of a most interesting nature, and a discovery to him is like a direct hit to the gunner.

Citizens Asked To Prepare For Raids And Study Advice Given

Rules For Conduct in Air
Raids or Gas Attacks Given
—Residents Asked to Cut
Out and Keep for Reference

Chief Warden R. Whillits states that Kelowna's A.R.P. organization is functioning 100 per cent with the fullest co-operation by all members and other Kelowna organizations.

The Canadian Legion Women's Auxiliary has turned out first aid kits for all members and is now making haversacks to be carried by each A.R.P. worker.

In addition to the six stretchers received from the Government, the local corps has been supplied with an additional fourteen stretchers made in the manual training department of the city schools.

The Kelowna Red Cross Corps sees to all the phoning of members prior to meetings, and Mr. Whillits states that no city could have done more to assist the A.R.P. to function.

The A.R.P. is now a close-knit, efficient body of trained workers and is continuing with tactical exercises which give the members needed practical experience.

In view of the Japanese attack on Dutch Harbor and submarine sinkings in the Pacific coastal area, the Chief Warden asks that all citizens bring their air raid precautions up to date.

In connection with this, suggestions are given below for conduct in an air raid and a gas attack. Chief Warden Whillits strongly urges householders to cut out these suggestions and paste them on a card-board. They can then be placed in a conspicuous spot where they can easily be read.

Air Raid Suggestions
1. In ANY air raid or black-out, take cover immediately.

(A) If you are away from home, get off the street. You are ten times safer in a building than standing or walking on the street. If you are in a car, pull to the side of the road immediately. Do NOT double park. Keep clear of the fire hydrants. Get out of the car, bus or street car and take shelter.

(B) If you are at home, take immediate black-out precautions. Extinguish all lights. Have your fire protection equipment ready. Go to your black-out room; it should be the safest room in the house. Stay away from windows. Bomb explosions shatter glass for considerable distances.

2. Don't use the telephone. Remember that those persons who have been trained to protect you in the air raid wardens, fire watchers, auxiliary firemen, auxiliary police and many others, MUST be able to get important messages through. Your personal calls have got to wait until after the "All Clear" signal.

3. If you are caught in the open, lie down on your stomach, hands over ears, feet together. You are twice as safe lying down as standing up.

4. If incendiary bombs fall, play a coarse spray of water upon them. Put out the fires started by the incendiaries first, then devote your attention to the bombs. The coarse spray of water burns up the bomb faster. A heavy jet stream or bucket of water will make the bomb explode. If you have no way of treating with dry sand, then with a blunt-nosed shovel scoop the bomb on to a pile of sand, dump the sand and bomb into a pail and take it outside.

5. Remember: obey your Air Raid Warden and other members of the A.R.P. services. They are trying to help you.

6. Above all, keep cool—stay home—put out lights—take shelter—lie down—stay away from windows. You can help.

What To Do in a Gas Attack
1. Serious injury may result from exposure to liquid gas which may fall from airplanes. It is, therefore, imperative to remain indoors and to keep the windows closed.

2. Most war gases are heavier than air. If you are inside a building, remain there and, if possible, go upstairs. Do not complicate the military effort by leaving your house unless circumstances make it absolutely necessary. If you are outside and not able to go indoors immediately, walk—do not run—out of the gas area. Avoid puddles of liquid gas, basements, valleys and other low places.

3. If the windows of your room are broken, go to another room, or get out of the building.
4. If you have been exposed to a war gas:
(A) Breathe through clothes wet with baking soda solution.
(B) If you can go inside a building, do so.

ding, do so, but first remove your outer clothing and leave it outside.
(C) Wash your hands and then your face with laundry soap and water.

(D) Wash your eyes at once with a large amount of solution of baking soda—one teaspoonful of baking soda in a glass of water.

(E) Take a bath, using plenty of laundry soap.

(F) Wash your eyes again with baking soda solution.

5. IF SPLASHES OF LIQUID GAS HAVE GOT ON YOU:
(A) Using small pieces of cloth, cleansing tissue or toilet paper, blot up as much of the liquid as you can, being careful not to spread it.

(B) Dab the contaminated area with cloth wet with cloxol, purer, anelcor, etc.

6. Don't get excited. Lie down and cover yourself with a blanket. Your Air Raid Warden will summon medical aid. There is no immediate danger from exposure to many known war gases, if you follow these simple rules. Clip them out and memorize them.

KELOWNA DRIVERS SHOULD CHECK TIRE WEAR

Expert Tire Service Will Help to Lengthen Tire Life, Says
George Anderson

There's a sad awakening coming to quite a number of motorists in Kelowna and district when they try to replace worn-out tires, according to George Anderson, local Good year dealer.

"There just won't be any new tires," said Mr. Anderson, when questioned about the situation. "Motorists are on their last tires now, he continues, and to many of them one major tire failure will mean laying up their cars sooner than they think."

The present rubber shortage is unique in the annals of motoring history. There has never been such a situation, so most motorists don't know how to meet it. Those to whom a car is a necessity will have to change their driving habits immediately. This situation can be met to a great degree with the assistance of a trained tire service man.

"A systematic plan of proper tire care calls for the regular services of an expert can work wonders with tires, providing he starts in time."

The plan Mr. Anderson discussed is called the "Good Year Tire Life Extension Plan." It calls for putting tires in the dealer's care for a year, and guarantees a preferred tire service that keeps tires on a car going much longer than the average motorist would normally expect.

In short, by spotting and preventing the trouble at its source, through regular and constant examination, Mr. Anderson has no hesitation in stating that a tire expert can practically double the ordinary life of a tire. The cost of this plan seems small in view of the necessity of making present tires take the place of new ones.

SOUTHERN HOUSES WILL ACCEPT UNION DEMANDS

Packing Houses and Union
Representatives Will Seek Approval of Agreement by Members

An amicable solution of labor problems involving packing house employers and employees in Penticton, Kaledon, Oliver and Osoyoos appears in sight last week, when representatives of both parties reached a basis of agreement following a round table discussion that lasted two days.

A draft agreement submitted by the Penticton Local of the Fruit and Vegetable Workers' Union on May 21 to representatives of the Okanagan Federation of Shippers' Association provided the basis of agreement.

Generally speaking, the terms of the agreement were accepted by the shippers with minor changes. Article six, dealing with seniority, received the greatest amount of revision, with the following clause being inserted at the suggestion of the employees:

"It is agreed that, providing merit, fitness and ability and the necessities of business warrant it, seniority will prevail in the plant according to the necessities of each department, and, where possible, the senior employee will be given the opportunity of work."

The original article did not contain any reference to "departmental" seniority.

The wage scale appended to the agreement was the subject of most of the debate and a compromise was worked out on the basis of these figures and those contained in the counter proposal submitted by the employees on May 21. After all adjustments had been made, it appeared that the scale was revised upwards to an extent approximating ten per cent above the former level.

However, wage adjustments, by consent of both parties, only cover those employees working on an hourly or piece work basis and are not applicable to workers earning a monthly salary.

The next step to be taken in the labor situation will be the presentation of the agreement on the basis outlined, to the members of the employers' and employees' organizations involved.

Prince William Henry, later William IV, of Britain, was the first representative of royalty to visit Canada, arriving in 1786.

RUTLAND JAM DELIGHTS CHILDREN

Wee Tots in Great Britain Receive Jam Sent by Women's Institute in Rutland

The subjoined letter has been received by the Rutland Women's Institute, and the sentiments expressed therein should warm the hearts of the hundreds of women in the Kelowna district who have assisted this organization and others to send supplies to Great Britain.

The letter is written by the Regional Director in Cardiff for the Women's Voluntary Service for Civil Defence, and reads as follows: "Dear Secretary,

"We here in Wales have just received some plum jam made by the Rutland Women's Institute, Kelowna, and I want to let you know of its safe arrival.

"We are overjoyed to receive this gift. As you know, sugar and jam are strictly rationed with us and sweets and chocolate extremely difficult to obtain, and children are really needing the extra sugary jam. It will be distributed to some of the Residential Nurseries for under fives in Wales and to the Hostels and Sick Bays.

"I wish that you could see some of the Residential Nurseries. All the children are under five and come from bombed areas: a number of them are war orphans. They are well looked after in converted country houses and the staffs are always so happy to see the poor mites improve in health and spirits.

"I do hope that you all realise how grateful we are, and how appreciative of the time and money which it has taken to make this gift. It has no doubt meant real sacrifice on your part, and I only wish that we knew something of your members and how you are affected by this war. We all consider that the food question has been dealt with wonderfully in this country since we started. We all get enough, but it is getting very dull. The butter ration goes a very little way, and meat is short and uninteresting, and we shall sadly miss mustard and pepper to flavour it with. One egg a month is rather a sad reminder of days of plenty, but our only wish is to help to end the war as soon as possible.

"Thank you again so very much. "Yours sincerely,
"SYLVIA VACHELL,
"Regional Administrator."

GUARD RATION GAS COUPONS

No Replacement of Lost Books
Until July, Controller Warns

Motorists are advised to guard their gasoline coupon books, Category A, carefully.

If such a book is lost or stolen, a new book will not be issued until after the end of the present rationing quarter, which is June 30.

G. R. Cottrell, Dominion Oil Controller, says that the owner of a lost or stolen book will be unable to buy gasoline until he receives a new one some time after the end of this month. To get this new book, it is necessary to obtain special permission from the nearest regional oil control office—and to pay one dollar.

SGT. H. G. BOWSER WRITES FRIEND

Letter Received From Well Known Kelowna Man Tells of Life in the Artillery With the Bowsters

A letter from Sgt. H. G. Bowser has just been received by W. A. C. Bennett which will interest many friends of the family in Kelowna. He reports that he has "climbed" his two sons Leon and Bill from the Seaforth and the Canadian Scottish respectively, and they are now with him in the artillery.

He states, "Leon has done very well for himself since he came and some time ago was promoted to Bombardier, and although Bill has to drop his rank on transferring, don't imagine it will take him long to get his stripes back after he has passed his artillery training."

"Leon has just finished up on a Commando course and did very well because he enjoyed it. Came into the office with face and hands as black as the Ace of Spades after being away all night with hair raising tales that made one wish he was 25 years younger and not tied down to an office desk. He just took to it like a duck to water, and I mean water, for he was wet to the waist and mud to the ears."

"Just had a visitor today in the shape of Len Richards, who is a Captain in the R.C.A.P.C. We do not get very many Valley people through us, men or officers, and take it that very few are recruited for the Valley in the Valley. Just recently the B.C.D.'s were very near here and I saw a lot of the boys from Kelowna and other parts of the Valley, including Harry Angle, Bill Breslin came over with them. I will believe he is now with the J.A.G.'s department, as is also Tom Norris."

"Army life goes on from day to day, a little excitement here and there, to live things up but it is certainly hard to realize that it is almost three years since I left Kelowna, and at the rate we are going it will be some time yet. It is not like the last show and I am looking forward to the time when the bunch start across the old Channel and start to go places; then I will begin to think there is some hope of getting back."

Man is just a worm. He comes out, wiggles around a bit, and then some chicken picks him up.

WINFIELD GROWERS PUBLIC WORKS ELECT W. J. COE AS DELEGATE

Annual Meeting Held in Winfield Community Hall Hears G. A. Barrat and C. J. Huddleston

The annual meeting of the Winfield Local of the B.C.F.G.A. to appoint a delegate to the nominating convention, was held in the Winfield Community Hall on Friday, with G. A. Barrat, of Kelowna, and C. J. Huddleston, of Summerland, attending.

Mr. Barrat opened the meeting by stating its purpose, and asked that a chairman be appointed. W. J. Coe being the only one mentioned, assumed the chair, and asked Mr. Barrat to give a short outline of the year's proceedings, which he did. Mr. Barrat also gave the latest figures on the signing of the contract. These seemed quite satisfactory, especially as he stated that all the year's pined either signed or agreed to sign, so he was certain the contract would be in operation this coming season.

Many questions were answered by Mr. Barrat to the satisfaction of the meeting. One in particular was as to what he thought would be picked this season. He stated that in his opinion all varieties should be grown, he said, were either exported or canned other years, and as there was not likely to be any export to England, and there were no cans available, this put Jonathans in a bad spot. He was asked whether it was advisable to thin the Jonathans and he stated that he thought it was advisable, because if they were not thinned there would be none next year when they might be wanted, also that as he thought the grower would get a fair price for anything left on the trees, it would pay him to do so.

Mr. Barrat stated that Winfield and Okanagan Centre were to be congratulated on the signing of the contract, as 94 per cent of the acreage was already signed up without any drive.

Mr. Huddleston then said a few words about general matters, also stating that he was quite sure that the Board, and was in fact only now learning what a lot was being done to benefit the growers by the different people elected by the growers to carry on their business.

After thanking the two speakers, the Chairman asked for nominations for one person to attend the Nominating Convention, W. J. Coe was the only name put forward, and he was therefore elected.

KELOWNA PARTY MAKES SURVEY AT PENTICTON

Examination of Okanagan River Discloses Sandbar and Log Boom Blocking Carry-off From Lake—Action Secured Monday

A delegation, consisting of Alderman George Sutherland, Provincial Water Engineer D. K. Penfold, Dr. J. M. Horsley M.H.O., E. W. Barton and City Engineer H. A. Blakeborough, spent Friday in Penticton examining the condition of the Okanagan River and exploring the possibilities of increasing the flow of the river so as to relieve the serious condition caused by the rising level of Okanagan Lake.

A detailed survey of the river channel showed that two factors were cutting down the flow and carry-off from the lake. Soundings made by the party discovered the existence of a sandbar between Shingle Creek and the presence of which was unknown to engineers working on the job of clearing the river channel. This bar is reducing the flow of Okanagan River and immediate dredging of the obstruction is being urged. The work of clearing this part of the river channel will take two days, it is estimated.

Far more serious was the hold-back caused by the presence of log booms of the Penticton Sawmills Ltd. Tests showed that the presence of these logs was reducing the run-off to a serious extent and that removal of the logs would materially increase the volume carried off from the lake.

The party returned with the determination to insist that the federal engineer in charge force the removal of the logs, and on Saturday afternoon representations along this line were made to a Penticton delegation at a special meeting held in the Kelowna City office.

Contact had been made with Ottawa by wire, and the reply received by the Kelowna City Council stated that the federal engineer in charge had full authority to take any steps necessary to open up the Okanagan River and increase the flow in order to relieve the situation.

Survey by the Penticton delegation on Saturday in Kelowna, consisting of Councilors Kenyon and Cousins and Municipal Engineer Pearson, emphasized the serious conditions existing in Kelowna, and it is reported that the delegation left feeling that Kelowna had underestimated the situation here and that the Kelowna City Council and Board of Trade were fully justified in their demand for action.

Word was received from Penticton on Monday that the log booms were being removed and that the river flow had increased one-tenth of a foot. Work will be started on clearing the bar found at Shingle Creek, it is reported, and in addition a new channel will be dug at the sharp bend where Shingle Creek joins the Okanagan River. This work will improve the channel at that point by eliminating the right-angle bend in the river.

On Monday the lake level stood at 103.85, with the gauge at Penticton showing the Okanagan River level at 101.95, a difference of two inches.

With the exception of Mission Creek, all the smaller creeks feeding Okanagan Lake have dropped appreciably, although Sunday's rain storm will bring them up again. Authorities state that the lake will continue to rise until Mission Creek has reached its peak. At the present time that stream is depositing twice as much water into Okanagan Lake as the Okanagan River is able to carry off.
